ORIENTAL UNIVERSITY

COMPLETE LIST OF COURSES

FOR

RESIDENCE AND CORRESPONDENCE STUDY

With Pictures of the University Buildings.

Many new major courses for degrees, and also for the first time a large number of minor courses for collateral reading open also to students who have not yet passed the college entrance examination, are offered by Oriental University, for home study.

Oriental University is the only internationalistic University offering a list of 648 correspondence courses to students in all countries, and which accepts dissertations written not only in English, but also in German, French, or Spanish.

Oriental University accords full credit for studies finished elsewhere, if proofs in legal form are submitted to the Faculty.

For Graduates who wish to earn a degree in absentia, Oriental University is the most desirable because the most universal University patronized by prominent people of many countries.

Apply on our special application blanks! Make fees payable to the Oriental University or to President H. P. Holler! Write orders for books on separate sheet with your address! When telegraphing, use our telegraphic address: "Hollorient, Washington, D. C."

MINOR COURSES FOR COLLATERAL READING.

Notice: These minor collateral reading courses are mostly for applicants who have not graduated from High School and who do not aim for a degree. But those who have graduated from a good residence high school can have these courses counted for credit toward a degree, as half courses, two of them being equal to one of the regular degree courses. These Minor Courses cost only $10 each. As for the full or Major Courses, also for these Minor Courses, no textbooks are provided; but to students taking 10 of these courses and paying $100 for them in advance, one textbook costing not over $1.50 will be supplied for each of the ten courses, free of charge. Additional textbooks if needed or desired must be paid for by the students in addition to the fee for the courses. The arrangement of the minor courses is exactly like that of the major courses, i. e., outline, lists of books, test work, and examination questions are sent. Those who finish any courses will receive a certificate, free of charge.

As these minor courses can be taken by correspondence by anyone who has a public school education or who can read and understand books in English, we hope that many will avail themselves of this opportunity of improving their education and to earn the certificates. These courses have been opened for the purpose of extending the usefulness of Oriental University over all English-speaking countries and to help also those in other countries who read English.

Important Notices.

(1) Applications should be made on the university's official application blanks, which give explanations in English, German, and French.

(2) The total fee must be paid at the time when application is made, and by money order, if possible.

(3) All courses may be taken by correspondence, also those for degrees, and how many courses must be taken to earn any certain degree desired will be determined by the Faculty just as soon as full and detailed information about previous studies by the candidate has been received by the Faculty.

(4) Graduates with a Bachelor or Master degree only will be accepted as applicants for any Doctor degree, except graduates of first-class European universities who have entered a profession and who prove their qualification by independent advanced researches, presented in a lengthy and scholarly dissertation in either English, German, French, or Spanish.

(5) The Universal Theomonistic Association will pay the cost of courses for candidates who contract to act as Theomonistic book agents, missionaries, or ministers for at least ten years after graduation, at the usual remuneration accorded all other Theomonist workers. Ladies, too, are admitted to such privileges.

In honor of Dr. Fritz von Frantzius, of Chicago, deceased, a benefactor of the University, every year three American students are granted free German language, literature, and art courses.

(6) Graduation in any of our colleges, schools, or seminaries for those who have high school graduation, but who have not yet attended any college, professional school, or seminary, requires a study of 18 courses (3 years, or as soon as these 18 courses can be finished, there being no strict time limit set for non-resident students), namely, at least six courses each year. Six additional courses are required for the Bachelor degree; ten additional courses for a Master degree; and 12 additional courses and a dissertation for a Doctor degree. Thus, anyone qualified to enter a college, professional school, or seminary of our University may earn a Bachelor degree by finishing 24 courses; a Master degree, by finishing 28 courses; and a Doctor degree, by finishing 30 courses and presenting a lengthy and scholarly dissertation proving original research, which should be printed, or at least typewritten. The dissertation, if typewritten and not printed, should be written on legal size (foolscap, long folio) thin sheets, written on one side only (no carbon copy, but the original is wanted), and the dissertation should contain about 8,000 to 10,000 words, and should be bound in flexible cardboard.

(7) Graduates of colleges or universities, according to qualification proved by legalized copies (not originals, which might be lost through the mails) of all certificates or diplomas earned elsewhere, and a complete Vita or autobiography as far as referring to education and professional work, if such work has been entered since graduation, may earn the degree sought, for which they are qualified, by presenting a truly scientific dissertation, as indicated above. The Faculty may require, in addition, a written examination in up to six subjects or courses, if the papers and dissertation are not of the required standard, as is sometimes the case with American and Oriental candidates, but rarely with graduates of European universities.

Most of this class of candidates are obtained through our official representatives, to whom an additional commission of 20 per cent has to be paid. But where no such representatives are, the candidates may apply directly to the University and save the 20 per cent.

(8) Graduates also must pay in advance, i. e., $5 on application, and the balance when the dissertation is sent and before the diploma is forwarded. The fee for any non-medical degree is $55. For the D. D. S., Dr. Phar., and Chem. D. each, the fee is $75, and for the M. D. degree, it is $100. No reduction whatsoever is allowed to anyone, as the University has no endowment funds and is maintained entirely by the fees. Candidates who apply through our representatives should satisfy themselves whether such representative is still in good standing with the University or not, and they will do a service to the University and other applicants if they will promptly inform the President of the University of any overcharges made by any representative, which will result in immediate dismissal of said representative. Representatives who are members of the University Faculty are, however, allowed to make extra charges for special assistance and instruction given to the candidates, if such charges are agreed upon between the candidate and the representative. The University has nothing to do with such special agreements. If the candidates trusts the representative, payments of fees to the University may be made through the representative, but the University is in no case responsible for any fee not paid directly to the University or to President H. P. Holler.

All fees charged are for paying the expenses of the University, including salaries of professors, and they do not cover expenses for textbooks, which must be paid extra by the students. All textbooks may be ordered from the Oriental University Book Concern, 1702 Oregon Ave. N. W., Washington, D. C.
